The Income of Millionaire E. R.
Thomas Is Garnished.

The Creditors Will Take Out $16,000 a Year.

New York, Jan. 5.—Edward Russell Thomas, former multimillionaire banker, turfman, theatrical "angel" and automobile daredevil, has confessed judgment for $1,234,487 of his debts in the supreme court.

At the same time this confession of judgment was filed, was signed by Supreme Court Justice Giegerich an order garnishing the $16,000 income that Thomas draws from the estate of his father, the late General Samuel Thomas, each year. This order was granted the Bowring Green Trust company, a creditor fixed at $55,100, and will permit the company to apply $16,000 of Thomas' income annually toward payment of the debt.

Thomas, one of the picturesque spenders of the Great White Way, and a dashing figure in the world of finance, has lived in Paris for two years with his wife, Mrs.
Linda Lee Thomas, who was one of the celebrated beauties of Newport and New York. Thomas went abroad after being crippled in an automobile accident in 1908. The big judgment against Thomas is the result of the 1907 panic. At that time he was living in a third floor apartment at the Hotel St. Regis, sleeping in a silver bed that cost $10,000 and paying $45,- 000 a year rent for his suite. His associates were Charles W. Morse, the convict banker, and F. Augustus Heine, the copper king.

General Thomas, father of E. R.
Thomas, brought his son to New York and made him his successor in many business enterprises. He gained the reputation of being a most reckless driver of automobiles and one time ran down and killed a child in this city. He became a stock broker and championed with "Joe" Leiter, James G. Blaine, Jr., and other notables. He made a name for himself as a plunger in the stock market, having been credited with a $2,000,000 share in a cotton pool.

When the Seventh National bank got into difficulties General Thomas, who was a director, tried to save it with his personal check for nearly a million and the stipulation that E. R. Thomas should be made its president. Young Thomas did become president of the bank on June 25, 1901, the day he married Miss Lee.

The bank, however, soon closed. In the meantime Mrs. Thomas had developed a fondness for racing. She and her husband squandered a fortune on their horses and won distinction as royal entertainers in exclusive social circles.
After the financial crash came in 1907, Thomas was pressed by creditors who had claims of about $1,000,000. He also indicted on the charge of having violated the insurance code but the indictment was afterward quashed. When Thomas failed his creditors made an agreement with him. It was announced that he had agreed to turn over all of his annual income to them except $50,000.
Later there was organized the Thomas Liquidation Trust to liquidate all claims. Thomas assumed the debts and agreed to pay the trustees who in turn were to pay the creditors.

Most of his creditors are banks and their claims represent loans to him and to stockholders whom he guaranteed.
These claims were assigned to the liquidating trustees and they tried to collect from Thomas who has reduced the claims to the amount of the judgment. By concession of judgment he avoids litigation and its consequent heavy costs.
Mrs. Thomas, the mother of E. R.
Thomas, is immensely wealthy. She is credited with having an income of $250,- 000 a year. She has often come to the aid of her son in his financial dealings and at the time of the panic paid his creditors $300,000.

"OTHER MAN" APPEARS

Witness Throws New Light on the Death of Morrow.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, in a preliminary hearing in municipal court heard her assertions that there was no "other man" in the case to furnish a solution of the murder of her husband several days ago flatly denied by a witness whom the police produced as the "other man" himself.

Harry Gilmore, an automobile salesman, who roomed at the Morrow home, confirmed testimony previously offered that Morrow had not enjoyed equal rights with his wife in the home, and added that he had usurped the decedent's rights as husband.
Mrs. Morrow, who is charged with murdering her husband, wept hysterically at this testimony.

Morrow, patient of several devices, was 29 years older than his 32-year-old wife. He was found, shot through the brain and the heart, on the rear porch of his home. A coroner's physician declared he could not have fired both shots, and an examination of the body after it had been exhumed at the direction of the court, disclosed no new information, but showed that either wound would probably have been instantly fatal.

Witnesses testified that Mrs. Morrow and her husband were quarreling in their apartments, that two shots were heard and that the light in Mor-row's room was extinguished. The next morning the frozen body was found by Mrs. Morrow's maid.

Ascribe Her Loyalty.
Mrs. Morrow, who is a writer and member of prominent clubs, disclaimed knowledge of the death, said Morrow had threatened suicide, asserted that she had been a loyal and faithful wife and told the police the last time she had seen her husband was at 7 P. M. the day before his death.

Maid and roomer at the Morrow house which Mrs. Morrow says was deeded to her in a pre-nuptial contract, told of the quarrels, the shots and other incidents. A maid who resided with Mrs. Morrow of unfaithfulness, just prior to Gilmore's admissions. Other testimony in the hearing has been that Morrow was compelled to keep within one small room, had no key to the house, had to do his own washing and was often without funds.

A stopper, Dr. Arthur W. Morrow, testified that the inventor of several weeks ago came to him and told a story of finding Mrs. Morrow bending over him in the night, armed with a revolver.
Mrs. Morrow was released from her cell at the Hyde park police station late last night on bonds of $25,000 signed by Lorenzo Lanson and Warren Lanson, both well known board of trade men. Accompanied by a woman friend, Mrs. Morrow went to her Michigan avenue residence to spend the night.

K.S.A.C. SHORT OF COAL

School May Have to Close If Cold Weather Continues.

Manhattan, Kan., Jan. 5.—The State Agricultural college is threatened with a coal famine and unless relief not now foreseen comes quickly the educational institutions will be compelled to suspend temporarily or the faculty and students will have to work in cold buildings with the temperature uncomfortably near the freezing point.

Last year the regents and department heads went before the legislature for appropriation with which to buy sufficient coal to be added to the penitentiary fuel shipped from Leavenworth, stating that the penitentiary coal would heat the many buildings. The requisition was rejected on the ground of economy.

ATTACKS THE NAVY.

Congressman Says But 33 Per Cent of Officers Are in Service.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Representative Howard of Georgia, in a speech before the house naval affairs subcommittee, the reinstatement of Lieut.
Col. C. M. Perkins of the marine corps, declared that Perkins' discharge for alleged "mental incompetency" was a "dreadful conspiracy, hatched at the Army and Navy club in Washington." Mr. Howard attacked both the marine corps and the navy.

"Only 33 per cent of the officers of the navy," he said, "are in actual service. The remainder sit about Washington engaged in social pursuit. Naval battles are planned and fought in the club while liquor takes the place of the briny deep with a red cherry as the ship and a toothpick as the propelling force. The officers furnish the wind."

IT MAY TAKE WEEKS

To Determine Whether Hines Shall Stay in Union League Club.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—It was reported Thursday that an interval of some weeks may elapse before the directorate of the Union League club decides whether Edward Hines acted in a manner unbecoming a member of the club in connection with his alleged utterances in regard to election of Senator William Lorimer on the part he, Hines, played in it.

Extreme caution is being used by the directors who heard the conflicting statements of the witnesses called, and no hint of the decision at which they may arrive has escaped.
It is understood some members take the position that Mr. Hines has forfeited his right to retain a place in the organization. The lumberman is said to have entered a flat denial of every statement attributed to him by Clarence S. Funk of the International Harvester company.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Against his desire, ney in the juvenile court, where Charles R. Lindsay is seeking to gain possession of his minor son, Wm. Lindsay, heir to an estate in Philadelphia, who was taken from the "temple" of the Mazdaznans in December and placed in the custody of the court.

The boy was not in court nor was his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Lindsay, and

Minneapolis Robber Made Good Haul at Wellington.

Wellington, Kan., Jan. 5.—From a photograph of W. W. Wells, who is under arrest in Minneapolis, Minn., for stealing $6,000 worth of diamonds December 22, Wellington people have been able to fix the identity of the man who robbed the E. B. Roser jewelry store here a year ago last election night in November.
Wells also has been identified as having robbed a jeweler of $2,000 worth of diamonds at Bartlesville, Okla., December 16.

The robber got about $7,000 worth of diamonds from the Roser store, going behind the counter in his shirt sleeves and without a hat as a clerk and lifting the tray containing them from a front display window. Mr. Roser had left the store.

The burglar got into Roser's store through a rear window which he pried up. He was seen while committing the robbery by W. R. McLaughlin, manager of the Long-Bell Lumber company, who happened along. Mr. McLaughlin, being familiar with Roser's clerk, paused and watched the stranger behind the counter and has been able to give the police here a substantial identification of the man.
When Wells was taken in Minneapolis, Marshal Shawver sent for his picture and McLaughlin, when he saw it, said positively that it was that of the man behind the night of the diamond robbery behind Roser's counter.
